CRACK SHOTS FOR CHINA

FULL COMPANY OFFERED FROM HONOLULU.

Captain Klemme Will Wire Secretary of War Tonight Offering the Men-
Best of Local Military.

Captain Henry Klemme of Company A, N. G. H., is the chief in a movement for an American company from Honolulu for service in China. Since yesterday morning he has been receiving applications for enlistment, and now has enough for a full company. However, other applications will be received and the best men picked when the time comes.

The project has received the approval of Col. J. W. Jones of the First Regiment, and the Adjutant General. Governor Dole will this afternoon be asked to give his endorsement, and will doubtless comply. A long telegram to the Secretary of War offering the services of the company will be sent forward by the Peking tonight.

Captain Klemme will command the Honolulu contingent. First Lieutenant W. H. Riley of Company B, has practically been selected as first lieutenant. A second lieutenant will be chosen later. Members of every company in the First Regiment have volunteered for the war. Most of them are crack shots and thoroughly drilled. Sergeants and corporals of long standing are among the volunteers. In fact, indications now are that the cream of the local military will be in the company to serve Uncle Sam in the far east.

If the consent is accepted an officer to muster the men will be appointed. This may be a man on one of the transports, or the major at Camp McKinley. A discouragement in the way is that numerous offers from other States and Territories have been refused for the reason that the Secretary of War is only authorized to extend the military force to 100,000 men.

Captain Klemme is a life-long military man. He was one of the first to volunteer his services for Manila, and would have gone had a contingent from Honolulu been mustered in.

NEWS FROM THE OTHER END

IS THERE HOPE FOR WHITES IN PEKING?

A Report That Tells of a Rescue—British Minister's Urgent Call for Help.

(By the S. S. City of Peking.)

YOKOHAMA, July 17.—According to a Peking despatch dated the 7th inst., received by the Acting Viscount of Chekiang and Fukien, General Nish has entered Peking with the object of securing Prince King and relieving Yulu. The two remaining Legations were at the same time rescued, and it was discovered that the German Minister only had been murdered. The Boxers were in low spirits. Prince King and Yulu had received secret instructions from the Empress-Dowager to attack the Boxers with the forces of Generals Nish and Sun. The situation in Peking was less critical than before.

A telegram to Shanghai on July 14th, reports that General Tung Fushiang's troops attacked the Legations on the 6th inst., that 5 officers and a considerable number of men of the foreign forces were killed on the occasion, that on the following day, the 7th, the Chinese troops and the Boxers again attacked the Legations but failed to carry them; that Tung's forces are using cannon, and that the position of the Legations is extremely critical. An official telegram to the Japanese Foreign Office from Shanghai, dated July 10, states that the following telegram had been received from a trustworthy source:

"A messenger who has arrived in Shanghai has brought news of Peking up to the 5th inst. He stated that two Legations were still standing. The numbers and influence of the Boxers at Peking were continually decreasing. CHIEFO, July 2.—News of the utmost importance came today with the arrival of a native courier from Peking. He bore the following letter, addressed to the officer commanding any European troops:

"Resigned in British Legation. Situation desperate. Make haste. Sunday, 4 p. m. R. HART."

The last two words are doubtless underlined and are followed by notes of exclamation, and the two preceding words underlined once.

J. Mort Oat has, after his little pill-kiss, received his commission as postmaster at Honolulu.

DID NOT KILL WOUNDED

SEYMOUR CARRIED ALL BACK TO TIENTSIN.

Physician Who Attended the Wounded
Soldiers After Their Return Denounces Sensational Report as False.

Dr. G. P. Smith, who was in charge of the military hospital at Tientsin until July 5, arrived today on the Peking from Nagasaki. He was present in the city throughout the entire bombardment of the English settlement, and saw Admiral Seymour's relief column start for and return from Peking.

"The report that the Admiral killed his wounded men in order to prevent their falling into the hands of the enemy is absolutely false," he declared. "The column when it arrived, and I attended the wounded men after their return. I talked with them and I will positively say that such a report is not the truth. The Admiral had barely enough men to carry back his wounded. Had he not had to do this he would have abandoned the Hai Gu, the extensive fort and arsenal of the Chinese in the main city of Tientsin. The bombardment of our settlement began on June 14, and continued until I came away. The Boxers burned out the town, and on the night of June 15, to set fire to the Roman Catholic Cathedral. The small guard which was left to look after the place was hard pressed for days and nights, and on the 19th, they nearly succeeded in 'ringing the town.' For all of the troops were nearly worn out. The station was the objective point of nearly all of their attacks. This was held by the Russians. On Tuesday, the 19th, the defenders were tired out, and but for the reinforcement of 300 British blue jackets, they would have taken the town, perhaps, and captured us."

"By this time the town was in desperate straits, and finally, a Mr. Watts, a famous rider, volunteered to ride this town. He was accompanied by a detachment of 1,000 to 1,200 men was hastily gotten up and started at midnight to work its way around the Boxers. The latter attacked them, but the allies forced their way through and effected the relief of Admiral Seymour's brave band."

VANCOUVER MAIL STOPPED

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The Post-office Department has ordered that, beginning with August 1, all mails for the Hawaiian Islands shall be forwarded exclusively to San Francisco, or other American ports for dispatch and that the present practice of dispatching mails via Vancouver, B. C., be discontinued.

Postmaster Oat, on being shown the above, said: "I have heard of the matter. At the same time I have no reason to doubt its accuracy. I suppose the department has reasons for not wishing to send mail a few miles out of the country only to be brought back again. The meaning of the despatch is very clear. In future mail will come from American coast ports only, and none via Vancouver. This has nothing, however, to do with English and Canadian mails. The will come via the Vancouver steamers as before."

"I have received no instructions in regard to the matter so that I do not know whether the order works both ways or not. If I get no mail by the steamer leaving here next Wednesday for Vancouver."

At the office of Theo. H. Davies & Co., agents for the Canadian line of steamers, the following statement was given out: "We have received no advices in regard to the American mail, and therefore we do not know whether the telegram from Washington is correct or not. It is probably correct, although the policy of most countries now is to facilitate the dispatch of mail in every possible way. It would seem that a move of this kind would prove at times a great hardship to Honolulu, if not to coast shipping men."

"We have heard nothing regarding the discontinuance of the cable of the Canadian steamers at this port, and have no idea as to what will be done." The first steamer of the Canadian line arrived here from Sydney on June 1, 1892, and was heartily welcomed as opening the opportunities for new commercial advantages. Such a move to the case. Washington and Oregon quickly built up an immense trade in feed stuffs, cereals and beer in the Islands, and Honolulu sent back large quantities of fruits and the like to Sound markets. The United States ruled first that this traffic must stop, as it took the business from American ships. Now comes the order to stop the mail, which is presumably to save the subsidy to American boats.

IT IS NOW THE CAPITOL

NAME OF EXECUTIVE BUILDING CHANGED.

Heads of Departments Make Name
Conform to American Custom—Progress in Extending Streets.

The name of the old Executive building will in future be "capitol." This was decided upon by the Executive this morning, and becomes official at once. From June 14 the Star has called the building "the capitol," which, with an annexation, becomes the proper name for it.

At the meeting held this morning Mr. McCandless made several interesting reports in regard to streets. Vineyard street, he said, would be extended to Lihua in the next few days. The Superintendent submitted a map of the proposed extension of Kukui street and the lands required. He was authorized to go ahead and obtain the land needed for the extension. The street will come out on Emma near Emma Square. With regard to Chinatown the Superintendent reported great difficulty in getting land from the owners. He was instructed to proceed to condemn such land as was required. Mr. McCandless also referred at some length to the widening of Waikiki, saying that the property owners along the route were favorable to the improvement, and were willing to make reasonable terms. He thought that within a few days tangible terms of settlement would be reached.

Mr. Lansing reported an application from the Orphan Company for an amendment to its charter reducing the number of directors from fourteen to seven. This was approved. Aki & Co. of Waimea, Hawaii, applied for a light wine and beer license. Referring to Sheriff Andrews, Mr. Lansing reported that the Hawaiian Electric Company applied for permission to drill an artesian well on the premises of the Sailors' Home, which belongs to the Government. The Executive thought the first thing the company should do is to get permission to lay pipes under the street from the home to the power house. If this can be gotten from the road department the request already submitted will probably be granted.

The application of the Hilo Railway Company to extend its line beyond the second division, from Waialae to Puna, was considered, but no action was taken.

Governor Dole reported the letter from the Secretary of the Interior requesting a report for the year ending between July 1 and the present. This was referred to at length in the Star of yesterday.

WAR CORRESPONDENTS.

Martin Egan and Ralph Payne for the Orient.

A reflex of the events in China is found in the number of war correspondents making haste to the scene of action. There were two to the Rio, both men who have made reputations only in journalism, but in the particular branch of journalism they now go to prosecute. They are Martin J. Egan of the San Francisco Chronicle, and Ralph Payne of the Chicago Record.

Egan went to the Philippines for the Chronicle, immediately after the battle of Manila Bay, and his dispatches from there and the work he did established his reputation as an energetic and capable man. On his return to the mainland he was sent to New York to report on his paper there, and after attending both National conventions, he was sent on eleven hours notice to the Orient.

Ralph Payne has had almost as romantic a career as a war correspondent as anyone whose name has appeared among the lists of war correspondents. He was in Cuba for months before the Spanish-American war broke out, with the filibusters and revolutionaries. Cuba and had many daring and hairbreadth escapes. After the war began he was with the American forces from the beginning to the end of the war. He is a Yale man and found here a number of his acquaintances of college days, among them George Carter and J. P. Cooke.

HE HAS NO GUN.

Chinese Vice Consul Goo Kim wishes it stated that he did not buy a pistol for his own use. Consul Yang Wai Pin is "the man behind the gun." "I have no pistol," says Mr. Goo Kim, "and never expect to have one. I have lived here thirty years, sixteen of which as representative of the Chinese Empire. So far as I know I have discharged my duties satisfactorily to everybody; at any rate, I have a clear conscience and am not afraid of anyone taking my life."

Consul Pin is young and, it is said, he looks himself in an inner room at night and is guarded by his servants. On the veranda is posted a six-foot mounted patrolman.

HOW KUHAO LOST HIS NOSE

DOCTORS KUHAO A NEW ONE AT THE HOSPITAL.

A Man Who Makes His Living by Chewing Awa—The Story of an Exciting Hula.

A professional awa-chewer was the principal character in a case which occupied an hour of Judge Wilcox's time yesterday. He was Kuhao the complaining witness in the mayhem case against Kaapana. Kuhao appeared in court with an artificial nose, which had been grafted by the doctors at the Queen's hospital, after the trouble with Kaapana resulted in loss of the old one. Kuhao told Judge Wilcox a long and entertaining story of a hula and hula at which he was the chewer, getting a liberal share of the drink for his services, and at which the nose was lost.

According to Kuhao's account there was a glorious hula before Kaapana turned loose. It occurred at a native dwelling in Nuuanu on June 9th. Kaapana and his wife arrived very late in the evening, when the hulas were about over, but as Kuhao put it, she wanted to hula some and they gave her a chance. He said she hulaed very well, and then asked to be taught some new things about the dance. The leader of the party said she knew all about it and had nothing to learn, whereupon the row began. Kuhao was quietly chewing his awa root, in order that there might be plenty of awa to drink, and he had a lot of poi bowls round him, one of which he would now and then put to his lips.

Kaapana began to kick the bowls around, he put out the lights and then suddenly accosted Kuhao with an invitation to fight. Excuses were not accepted, and the fight began. It ended, according to Kuhao, in his nose being bitten clean off, and in his receiving other bites on the cheek and finger. The victim admitted that he had had so much awa that he didn't feel it at all and didn't know what was happening. He exclaimed "Papa, you've got no nose." He knew what went on, however. "Awa makes you numb," he told the judge "but it's not like a whiskey jag, because a man can see and hear while he is on it."

Kuhao's unfortunate encounter made him the subject of an interesting operation at the hospital. The doctors took skin from near where the nose had been and laid it over in the form of a new nose. The grafting was successful and Kuhao now has something of a nose. "This is all new," he told the judge, touching it gently and going close to the bench, so that his honor might inspect.

Judge Wilcox held Kaapana in $500 bond for trial on a charge of mayhem.

WILL MAKE SACRIFICES.

Reformers Grieve for Their Country's Great Trouble.

EDITOR STAR.—The reformers are happy to suffer for the righteousness and good of their native land, even unto death. Our desire is not alone to effect the betterment of our Empire, but to completely reform the government of our country and place it in the hands of good officials who are acquainted with the right plans of government. The newspapers of yesterday seemed to regard the representatives of the Chinese Empire as time to men. Why? Because they have acted unjustly and without conscience. Take the case of John, King Herod felt so miserable that he went and killed himself. It would be well for both consuls to think of the conscience of that man who killed himself for having caused the death of but one person. Although miseries and hardships are falling upon the Reform party they cannot banish our true hearts or diminish our enthusiasm. It is a certainty that blessing and happiness follow persecution and revilement, and so it will be with the reformers. Therefore, I say to my reformers, "Keep courage and be of good cheer, and let us all hope that the light will no longer be dimmed."

A CHINESE REFORMER.

The resolution authorizes the expenditure of any sums necessary to effect the purpose.

ANXIOUS TO COME HERE

CHINESE PAY BIG PRICES FOR CERTIFICATES.

Three Hundred Dollars for a Mere
Chance of Getting into the Country—
Eight Sent Back.

Eight Chinese who came here on the steamship Rio on her last call here, from China, were sent back as rejected today, by the United States Immigration Bureau. They had bought their certificates in China from Mongolians who had left Honolulu with certificates allowing them to return. The prices paid show the great value which Chinese place upon the privilege of entering the United States. In one case, according to information gathered by the inspectors, the sum of $225 was paid for a certificate, upon which the purchaser could have no certainty, but simply a mere hope, that he might get into the country.

The Rio left the Chinese here on June 26, when she arrived with a large number of them in her steerage. All were taken to quarantine island, and the eight who were sent back today never got away from there. The immigration men conduct a careful examination in each case, and the eight who failed to pass were not well enough up in the answers to the questions put, and they did not look enough like the pictures on the certificates they held.

Every Chinese return certificate has on it a photo of the man who is entitled to use it. The valuable documents are given here to Chinese as they are going on board steamers, entitling them to return within a year. The eight purchasers of such certificates looked something like the men from whom they got the documents, and they hoped to be able to pass. The Honolulu inspectors had too sharp eyes for such a game, however.

The price paid for a certificate was not less than $200 in any case. It is stated, the story of how the certificates were secured was not by the inspectors in some cases from the Chinese themselves, under cross-examination. Other facts were secured from secret detective sources.

The Rio got away at fifteen minutes past twelve today. The City of Peking, which was waiting outside the harbor for the Pacific Mail wharf to be vacated, entered as the Rio left.

FOR MRS. UHLBRECHT

PRESENTED BY THE COMMITTEE
LAST NIGHT.

The Sum of $1423 Was Raised—Mrs.
Uhlbrecht Will Be Established in Business—Committee's Report.

Mrs. Emil Uhlbrecht, widow of Emil Uhlbrecht, who was drowned at Makapuu Point two weeks ago, was last night made the recipient of a purse of $1,423. The presentation was made at her home by the committee which has had in hand the work of collecting the money. This committee consisted of J. W. McDonald, George Barker, the engineer at Kipahulu plantation, and W. C. Roe of the Honolulu Iron Works.

Mrs. Uhlbrecht expressed her thanks to the fellow workers of her late husband in the iron works, and to the general public, for their kindness and liberality.

The movement to raise a fund to enable Mrs. Uhlbrecht to engage in some business by which she might support herself and her fatherless children, started among the workmen of the iron works, where Mr. Uhlbrecht was employed. W. C. Roe was appointed a committee to receive contributions from the workmen, and George Barker was appointed to solicit and receive funds from others. From the employees of the iron works, $428.50, and from other sources, $1,154.50.

At noon today the committee made a report of their work to the employees of the iron works, at the shops. It conveyed Mrs. Uhlbrecht's thanks to them for their kindness and thoughtfulness in the matter. There were a large proportion of the iron work's employees present to hear the report, and they tendered a vote of thanks to the committee for the work of its members.

L. H. Dee and other friends have undertaken to help Mrs. Uhlbrecht to start a candy and soda water store at some good location not yet secured, and will help to carry on the business successfully.

COLONEL LISCUM'S GRAVE.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The War Department today received a cablegram from General MacArthur dated Manila, July 18, saying that "Colonel Liscum's body was buried at Tong Ku July 17."

RAIN FALLING IN INDIA.

NEW YORK, July 17.—The following cablegram was received today by the India Famine Relief Work Committee: "BARODA, India, July 17.—Special and official telegrams received here from the famine districts indicate a more cheerful outlook. Scant rains have fallen in Madras and Gujarat, in which latter place the famine has been most severe and the mortality greatest. Elsewhere the rainfall has been fair, making the general prospects brighter. There has been a gratifying rainfall in Rajputana, and Central India, which is always a center of suffering during famine, also reports a moderate rainfall."

THE GOVERNOR ON THE WAR

DOLE'S IDEAS OF THE EASTERN CRISIS.

Murders at Peking Most Atrocious in History—Governor Doubts Sincerity of the Russians.

Governor Dole was deeply impressed by the news of yesterday of the massacres in Peking. "If our information is correct," he said, "there has been nothing like it in the Christian era. At Canton the atrocities were somewhat similar, though the rebellion and massacres in India were local, affecting directly only one nation. In Peking not only were the murders the most savage to be thought of, but all civilization is by them directly affected."

"What surprises me most of all is that the Ministers did not get their women and children to a place of safety before the outbreak occurred and escape was cut off. Foreign representatives usually know when trouble is impending around them. It may have been that the cry of wolf in China has been raised so many times in China that they did not attach importance to the storm that had threatened for some weeks prior to the outbreak in May. It is often necessary and noble for a Minister to remain at his post amid the gravest danger, but usually his family has been sent to a place of safety beforehand."

"Another grave feature of the situation to my mind is the attitude of Russia. I have never felt satisfied of the Czar's friendship. While Russia is civilized, her civilization is peculiar, and one does not always know into what channels it may lead. It is certain that her civilization keeps her apart from other European systems. Russia has been accused of fomenting the present trouble in China, ostensibly for the purpose of territorial aggrandizement on the Siberian border. I do not believe all of that, for it appears that Russia is doing her share in suppressing the outbreak. At the same time there is no bottom to Russian schemes, and the powers may have trouble with the bear before peace is again restored."

MULATTO MAY COMMAND.

France has appointed General Alfred Amadee Dode, a mulatto and a man of great fighting ability, to command her troops in China, and as he is a general of division of many years standing, he will probably rank the commanders of all other bodies of foreign troops, a fact that if appointment be made by seniority would make him international commander in chief.

General Dode is known as the conqueror of Dahomey. He was born at St. Louis, in Senegal, about sixty years ago. He is, in fact, a mulatto of mixed French, English and African blood. He received his military education in France, but returned to Africa in 1871, after serving during the Franco-German war.

RETURNING COLLEGIANS.

Quite a number of college men returned yesterday by the Rio to remain here for longer or shorter periods. There was quite a Harvard contingent among them. Robert W. Atkinson came back after two years at Harvard, and will remain here, going into business after a short rest. Walter Dillingham, who has also been at Harvard for two years, will return there after a vacation of five weeks spent here. Harold Dillingham, who has just entered Harvard, will also return.

With the party came C. N. Prouty, a Harvard man, who is now a guest of the Dillinghams, and will later be a guest of the Atkinsons. He is here to see the country and visit friends. F. C. Baldwin is another member of the visiting party. He has been a preparatory school in the east, and enters Yale next fall. Alfred Afong, another Harvard man, returns to spend the vacation in his island home.

This party of island collegians was the life of the ship during the trip down. They sang Hawaiian songs which were immensely taking, and otherwise provided agreeable entertainment.

AN IMPORTANT DUTY.

Life insurance is getting more and more regarded as a duty which no man with an adequate knowledge of his responsibilities can afford to shirk. To take out a policy in a good life insurance company like the Provident Mutual is to capitalize one's earning power, and thus in a way to secure the community against the loss of that earning power.
